

Mercury Insurance is one of America's best employers for the third year in a row, according to Forbes

Amazing team camaraderie, career opportunities, perks, challenging job duties, and an overall culture built upon integrity and care for one another are some key things American employees look for when seeking their ideal job. Mercury provides these and more, which has led to Forbes naming Mercury as one of "America's Best Mid-size Employers" for the third year in a row.

An independent survey conducted by Forbes in partnership with market research group Statista found that Mercury's employees like and would recommend the company they work for to their friends and family members. Mercury is one of a select few insurance companies to make the 2019 list.

"It's an incredible honor to be recognized by Forbes for the third straight year. Mercury's team is the strength of our company and I am very proud of the culture we've been able to establish over the past 57 years," said Mercury Insurance President and CEO Gabriel Tirador. "We strive to provide the best possible work experience, which helps everyone excel in their positions, go above and beyond to support Mercury's customers in their time of need, and create a balance between their work and personal lives. We're not just a group of employees—I truly believe we're a family, which enables us to grow both individually and collectively."

Since opening our doors in 1961, Mercury Insurance has been dedicated to providing employees with the ideal workplace. This past year, we launched a series of employee-focused initiatives, including the Team Member Experience, which enhances employee interactions and engagement through one-on-one communication, mentorship and feedback. Implementing the received feedback allows us to adapt to our employees' needs and wishes to provide a fantastic work experience.
